

International Photography Festivals

Katja Trenkler

Es begann 1969 im südfranzösischen Arles. Eine kleine Schar von Fotoenthusiasten kam damals auf Initiative von Lucien Clergue zu einem lockeren sommerlichen Gedanken- und Bilderaustausch zusammen, die „Rencontres“ waren geboren. Diese Treffen wurden von Jahr zu Jahr populärer und größer, doch erst mit dem Mois de la Photo in Paris und dem Houston Fotofest entstand in den 1980er Jahren das Fotofestival heutigen Zuschnitts – eine Veranstaltung für das breite Publikum und zugleich eine Begegnungsstätte für die Fachwelt. Vor allem das Modell Houston hat sich inzwischen weltweit durchgesetzt. Dies nicht nur wegen seiner konsequenten Internationalität und thematischen Orientierung, sondern dank der Erfindung des Meeting Place, eines Ortes, der Fotografen und „Verwerter“ in effizient organisierten Portfolio Reviews zusammenführt. Die nebenstehende Tabelle gibt einen Überblick über 43 der wichtigsten internationalen Fotofestivals, basierend auf einer Umfrage vom Dezember 2008.

It all began in 1969 in Arles, in southern France. On the initiative of Lucien Clergue, a small group of photography enthusiasts gathered that summer for an informal exchange of ideas and images – the “Rencontres” was born. From year to year, these meetings became more popular and more sizeable, but it was not until the Mois de la Photo in Paris and FotoFest in Houston during the 1980s that the photography festival in its current form emerged – an event both for a wide audience and for the experts. The Houston model is the one that has mainly asserted itself worldwide, not only because of its consistently international quality and thematic direction, but also because of the inauguration of the “Meeting Place,” which brings together in efficiently organized “Portfolio Reviews” the image-makers and image-takers. The table on the right provides an overview of 43 of the most important international photography festivals based on a survey undertaken in December 2008.
